Hint: Privates jdoe and msmith have really dumb passwords, so try using a wordlist. That's the last hint we have for you, because this is a defend-the-flag exercise for students, not a classic capture-the-flag challenge.

Private

- Display personal information as a header
- Display list of duties
- Private's landing page is non-interactive except for logout.

Lieutenant's Landing Page

Option buttons

- Search for Soldier
- Display Platoon

*Captain must approve

- Displays either an individual soldier data or that of the whole platoon, with the later case requiring a scroll bar. When one soldier is displayed, the duties are listed below the personal data.

Captain's Landing Page

Option buttons

- Search for Soldier
- Display Company
- Assign Duties
- Remove Duties
- Define new duty
- Enter new soldier
- Recommend dismissal*

*Lieutenant must approve

- Displays either an individual soldier data or that of the whole company, with the later case requiring a scroll bar. When one soldier is displayed, the duties are listed below the personal data.

General Flow

- Landing page
  - User may view rules or bring up logon
- Logon Page
- Rank of user determines home page
  - Private
  - Lieutenant
  - Captain

With so much effort required for security, the amount of work required for pages and navigation must be kept to minimum class requirements. Data is displayed back on the same page. Input is in simple dialogue boxes.
